

DYING FOR RESPECT

How can writing reveal patterns and possible solutions to youth violence?

Join us for an unforgettable evening of student writing about street violence. Young Playwrights' Theater has teamed with youth throughout the city to tell the stories of people who are drawn into neighborhood and gang violence, those who fight to resist it, and those whose lives are irrevocably changed by the violence in their communities.

Featuring Writing by students from:

- AMYLA
 - C.O.I.N.N.S
 - HICKS
- and more!

FREE

6:15 PM Reception • 7:00 PM Performance
Monday • September 28, 2009

GALA Hispanic Theatre
3333 14th Street NW, Washington DC
For more info call 202.397.9173
or visit yptdc.org

Young Playwrights' Theater

CCCYVP

Citywide Coordinating Council on Youth Violence Prevention

